

State Looking For Successor
To HoffmasterPresent Commission
May Fill Vacancy

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
LANSING—(P)—The conservation commission today had a suggestion from Governor Williams that it start looking for a new conservation director at once.

Following the death of Director P. J. Hoffmaster March 19, the commission appointed Deputy Director S. G. Fontanna to take charge without any change in title.

The idea was to await the appointment of two new commissioners due this month before starting the search for a successor to Hoffmaster. The terms of Chairman Joseph P. Rahilly of Newberry and Commissioner Donald B. McLouth expire.

Rahilly met with the governor yesterday and was told Williams would have no objections if the present commission filled the post.

Speculation is that the governor is having difficulty finding a new commissioner to succeed Republican McLouth and that the appointments will be delayed possibly for months. Under the law, the old commissioners continue to serve with full powers until successors are named.

The governor also expressed

Quiz ApprovedHouse Votes $25,000
For Investigation

LANSING—(P)—House Democrats and Republicans fell into line yesterday to finally pass a bill appropriating $25,000 for an investigation of school enrollment padding.

The measure carried 86-4 after a test vote last week. All Republicans, acting in concert with a caucus decision, voted favorably. Most Democrats voted "yes" after an unsuccessful attempt to turn the investigation over to the attorney general's office.

The investigation was proposed following revelations of enrollment padding in the Litchfield township school district, Hillsdale county, to increase state school aid money.

Rep. Ed Carey (D-Detroit) led the drive to turn over the money to the attorney general.

He said that if Dr. Lee M. Thurston, superintendent of Public Instruction, conducted the probe he would be open again to charges of a whitewash. Governor Williams made these charges against him last week in connection with the probe of the Litchfield case.

Republicans, voting down the attempt, said the voters had indicated what they thought of the charges when they re-elected Thurston Monday.

Lawmakers Ready To Yank Teeth Of Draft-UMT Bill

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON—(P)—Administration leaders prepared today to yank the teeth out of their universal military training proposal in order to save a combination draft-UMT bill from rejection by the House.

The leaders also predicted the House will write into the draft bill a prohibition against blanket deferments on the basis of scholarship.

Opponents shout "No!" They still expressed confidence they could beat down a Republican drive to write into the controversial bill a restriction on use of American troops in an Atlantic pact army.

Even with the major concessions already made by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the armed services committee, opponents of UMT in any form shouted "no" to the toned down administration measure.

And they were relying on a letter from Gen. Douglas MacArthur to help them in their fight to alter the draft provisions.

They don't want UMT handled with the draft bill. Some of them don't want it considered at all, now or later. Many don't want the draft age dropped to 18 or 18½.

Vinson said the concessions he will ask his committee to sponsor when the bill reaches the amendment stage next week will assure its passage, with some sort of UMT provision.

Deferments Opposed—Vinson predicted also that the House will accept an amendment by Rep. Kilday (D-Tex.), a committee member, to prevent the wholesale deferment of students who make a stated grade in a nationwide aptitude test.

The Kilday amendment would defer high school students until they are 20 years old and would let college students finish the academic year already started when their draft number comes up. After that, local draft boards would determine which students are to be deferred, under general regulatory issues issued by the president.

The deferment of a student solely on the basis of his standing in nationwide aptitude tests as recently announced by selective service headquarters.

Still Far Apart—A major factor in labor's boycott of the defense agencies was their contention that defense mobilization Wilson, a former president of the General Electric company, allowed "big business" to dominate the defense program.

Mr. Truman apparently stilled their concern on that score by taking a tighter hold of the reins himself. AFL president Green told reporters the president would meet with the board once a month.

However, the unions' complaint about wage controls and the extent of labor's voice in manpower policy remained to be settled.

Economic stabilizer Eric Johnston said "labor and management are just as far apart" as they ever were in their differences over how the mobilization program should be run.

County Year Ago

Joseph Harris, 36, of Wilson, held in Menominee county as the driver of the car which struck and killed Kay Langley, 14, of Spaulding and injured two other girls Tuesday night at Spaulding, also has a reckless driving charge pending against him in Delta county; it has been learned.

Harris was arrested April 19, 1950 in Delta county after a collision with a car owned by Roger Williams, Escanaba Rte. One, in which damage estimated by Williams at $1,000 to Williams' car resulted.

Released On Bond—Harris was charged with reckless driving and was released on bond April 20, 1950. The case has never been disposed of and is still pending in Justice of the Peace Henry Ranguette's court in Escanaba.

Justice Ranguette reported today that delay in the disposition of the case developed in negotiations between Prosecuting Attorney Clyde McGonagill and Defense Attorney W. J. Miller.

House Votes Cut Of 43 Percent In Truman's Request

WASHINGTON—(P)—The House appropriations committee voted a 43 per cent cut today in a $843,463,569 emergency fund asked by President Truman.

It approved only $478,136,368 of the total sought by Mr. Truman to finance a number of emergency government activities for the remaining months of this fiscal year which ends June 30.

One of the larger cuts was in the Voice of America overseas broadcast program. Despite a plea yesterday by the president for the full amount, the committee recommended that only $9,533,939 of the $97,500,000 be granted.

Another cut was in the $454,000,000 budget of non-military defense agencies. The committee voted to hold the agencies to $224,750,000.

Cross killed himself with a 12-gauge shotgun, the coroner reported. Cross apparently was dependent over illness, friends said.

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman has wooded organized labor back into the defense planning fold with membership on a 17-man advisor mobilization board.

Union leaders agreed to the proposal late yesterday after a lengthy White House conference with Mr. Truman.

The president was reported "very happy" they'd decided to take a hand. The labor chiefs said they hoped the move would lead to a complete solution of the problems which started their boycott of the mobilization program five weeks ago.

Red Counterattacks
Flung Back In Korea

TOKYO—(P)—A surprise Chinese withdrawal on the central front last night left a "no-man's land" in front of the United Nations forces today north of parallel 38.

AP Correspondent John Randolph said Chinese who had been fighting stubbornly for two days suddenly broke contact Thursday night and retreated.

Americans thrusting forward Friday reported only patrol contact.

All along a 40-mile stretch of the front, N. N. units forged slow gains.

The Allied advance had thrust as much as eight miles inside the Communist northland.

Elements of four divisions pressed the slow, cautious United Nations advance on the central and western fronts. American, British, Greek, South Korean and Thai (Siamese) troops fought ahead from hill to hill.

Die-Hards Block Road—On the east coast, two South Korean divisions ranged 15 miles north of the border.

All but a few Chinese and Red Korean stragglers had been driven from battered South Korea.

The die-hards blocked the Hagye-Inje road east of Chuncheon on the mountainous central front.

Americans battered up that road behind heavy artillery fire, but they still were south of parallel 38. The Reds controlled the ridges on both sides of the road.

Once the road is opened to Allied traffic, the front will extend from the Imjin river in the west to the Japan Sea on the east—all of it in North Korea.

Bunkers Of Concrete—Allied forces on the western front have bumped up against solid concrete fortifications. Red defenders were guarding the flank of a massive Communist buildup for an expected spring offensive.

On the central front, Chinese forces launched several minor counterattacks Thursday night against U. N. troops north of the border. The Allies hurled back the attacks and drove slowly ahead.

A U. S. Tank force that lumbered almost eight miles into North Korea on the west-central front Thursday fought off a Red mortar and artillery attack, smashed a bridge and killed at least 24 Chinese before it returned to its main line.

Bombing By Jews May Bring On Clash

TIBERIAS, Israel—(P)—Tension ran high along the Israeli-Syrian border near here today as the belief spread the Syrians might retaliate at any time for last night's bombing of their troops by Israel's air force.

The Jews bombed troop concentrations just over the Syrian border and in the demilitarized zone near the Sea of Galilee, they said, in reprisal for the killing of seven policemen Wednesday.

The whole border area here along the Galilee Sea appeared to be in a state of preparedness. United Nations observers here to supervise observance of the 1948 Arab-Jew armistice took a most serious view of the situation and expressed fear their staff was not sufficient to insure preservation of peace.

The Israeli bombing reportedly caused major damage to the border center of El Hamma, the village of Babel Hadid and Syrian positions in those areas.

It was also reported that Syrian reinforcements were being sent to the El Hamma area.

In Tel Aviv an official Israeli spokesman said the bombing had been "completely successful." He listed as targets the El Hamma police station and "a number of fortified positions a few meters inside Syrian territory proper, from where the Israeli policemen were fired on and killed."

(A Syrian army spokesman in Damascus said the Arab forces fired on the eight Israeli planes in the raid and possibly damaged two of them. He said there were no Syrian casualties from the bombing.)

New Challenge
At WashingtonUse Of Chiang's Men
In Korea Endorsed

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON—(P)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has proved again he is one of the Truman administration's hottest potatoes.

His latest challenge of administration policy and Washington authority was burning fingers today at the White House, the State Department and the Pentagon.

MacArthur's letter to a Republican leader, Rep. Joe Martin of Massachusetts, warmly endorsing Martin's demand that the thousands of Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa command of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek be used in action against the Chinese and Korean Communists, had potentialities in at least three fields:

1. Domestic politics.
2. International politics, including the United Nations program in the Far East.
3. Military strategy.

While MacArthur's letter promptly raised speculation about possible disciplinary action against the five-star general there was serious question whether the White House would risk a bitter fight in Congress by removing him from command or promoting him out of it.

After reading MacArthur's letter to the House yesterday, Martin made it evident that there was

Low Grade Ore Bill Promoted

LANSING—(P)—The house today passed 66-5 a bill to encourage the development of low grade iron and copper ore in the Upper Peninsula.

Debate was cut off before the vote by a successful previous question motion. Before the motion, Rep. Gerald W. Graves (R-Alpena) questioned the constitutionality of the measure.

The bill sets up a formula for taxes on facilities engaged in the refinement of low grade ore. The tax rate would be geared to the price of ore at Lake Erie ports.

Graves said he feared that the tax basis was in violation of the constitutional requirement for a uniform rule of taxation.

The bill would exempt experimental plants for the development of low grade ore from taxation the first year and base future taxation on production of marketable ore.

Graves said he feared the tax rate, based on two per cent of the value of ore at Lake Erie ports, was too low.

Doctor Who Killed
His Wife's Seducer
Cheats Prison Cell

HOUSTON, Tex.—(P)—Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., who killed his wife's seducer, chose death to a prison cell.

His 70-year sentence confirmed by the Iowa supreme court and, his freedom on $40,000 bail near an end, the handsome 30-year-old children's doctor wrote a last love letter to his beautiful wife. Then he executed a carefully planned suicide.

The weapon was carbon monoxide and the time indefinite. But the setting was the couple's favorite spot in the countryside. "Love is fleeting," he wrote the blonde, statuesque Sydney. "Forget about this... Time will cure a lot of grief."

Rutledge's body was found in his automobile late yesterday. There was proof it had been there all day, probably all Wednesday night.

His suicide was the last act in a case that included murder-of-Byron Hattman—and one of the most torrid and sensational trials in the history of American law.

The lives and loves of Rutledge, his wife, and Hattman were unfolded in a Cedar Rapids, Ia., courtroom in 1949.

There Sydney testified she was forced to submit to Hattman after a boat ride and drinking party in July, 1948.

The defense argued Rutledge was defending the sanctity of his home; the state that Rutledge lay in wait in a hotel room, knocked Hattman out with a blow on the head and stabbed him "with surgical precision and skill."

Rutledge bought a hose, ran it from his car's exhaust pipe, through a window and taped it in place. With three heavy medical books holding down the accelerator, he waited for death at a field eight miles from town where he and his wife often went to fly model airplanes.

"I love you," he ended the letter to his 25-year-old wife, who had to be given sedatives for serious shock.

City Attorney Outlines Authority For Zoning

In a written legal opinion requested by the city council, City Attorney Denis McGinn has informed the council that authority over zoning in Escanaba now reposes in the city council, with the planning commission having authority to make recommendations to the council on zoning matters.

The city attorney's legal opinion, however, implies that the planning commission may assume authority over zoning by adoption of a complete master plan, including a zoning plan. The commission has adopted a master map of the city and is now engaged in the preparation of the complete master plan, the attorney's letter to the council outlined.

The legal opinion follows:

"The City Council has asked an opinion on the question of whether the city council or the planning commission has authority over zoning in the city."

Conflicting Statutes

"Our zoning ordinance, No. 65, was passed pursuant to the provisions of Act 207 of the Public Acts of Michigan for 1921.

"The planning commission was created by ordinance No. 179, pursuant to the provisions of Act 285 of the Public Acts of Michigan for 1931, and the members of the planning commission were appointed by the city council.

"There is no provision in the city charter covering either zoning or the planning commission and, therefore, the authority of the council and the planning commission is derived entirely from the statutes.

"Under ordinance No. 65, the city council has general zoning authority. Under the same ordinance, a board of appeals was created which has authority in specific cases to vary or change the zoning regulations established in the zoning ordinance.

"Under act 285 of the Public Acts of Michigan for 1931, and city ordinance No. 179, the planning commission is charged with the functions and duty to make and adopt a master plan for the physical development of the city."

Wide Scopes Planning

"The plan should show the planning commission's recommendations for the developing of the city, including, among other things, 'the general location, character, and extent of streets, viaducts, subways, bridges, waterways, water fronts, boulevards, parkways, playgrounds and open spaces, the general location of buildings and other public property, and the general location of public utilities and terminals, whether publicly or privately owned or operated, for water, light, sanitation, transportation, communication, power and other purposes; also the removal, relocation, widening, narrowing, vacating, abandonment, change of use or extension of any of the foregoing ways, grounds, open spaces, buildings, property, utilities or terminals; (the general location, character, layout, and extent of community centers and neighborhood units; and the general character, extent and layout of the replanning and redevelopment of blighted districts and slum areas) as well as a zoning plan for the control of the height, area, bulk, location and use of buildings and premises."

"It is my understanding that a master map of the city has already been adopted by the planning commission and that a complete master plan, including a zoning plan, has not as yet been adopted. It is my further understanding that the planning commission is presently engaged in the preparation of the complete master plan."

"In view of this situation, it is my opinion that authority over zoning now reposes in the city council, with the planning commission having the authority to make recommendations to the city council on zoning matters."

L. M. Fleming, 615 Ogden avenue, who has appeared before the council several times in opposition to the scope of the planning commission's authority, presented the council members with copies of the statute under which the commission was created.

Fleming repeated his contention that the commission possesses authority on matters of zoning greater than the authority of the council itself. Mayor Peter Logan denied the contention, however.

Workers Named In Cancer Fund

Make Final Plans For Drive In Escanaba

Organization of volunteer workers to conduct the 1951 "fight cancer" campaign in the city of Escanaba is nearly completed and the drive is already starting, Atty. William E. Anderson, city chairman, announced today.

The quota for Delta county is $3,000. The county has an active Cancer Society affiliated with the American Cancer Society and has conducted a program of education and service for several years.

Volunteers who will make home to home solicitation calls, together with the zone captains, will meet at 2 p. m. Saturday, April 7, in Carpenters Hall for a final instruction session. The home to home campaign will open April 16. Contribution containers have already been placed in business places in the city.

Atty. John G. Erickson is chairman of the special gifts committee and will be in charge of business and industrial solicitation.

Thomas Goedert is assisting generally as are Mrs. C. L. Harrison, Mrs. Emmet Noon, Mrs. Harlan Yelland, and Mrs. A. M. Gilbert.

The home to home campaign opens on April 16 and on April 27 the campaign will close with a tag day.

Following are the zone captains who each have charge of a 16 block area with a worker assigned to each block:

Zones 1—Mrs. John Groop, 2—Miss Josephine Ryan, 3—Mrs. Emmet J. Noon, 4—Mrs. Russell Owen, 5—Mrs. Harry Ehnerd, 6—Mrs. Leney Clairmont, 7—Mrs. Frank Butler, 8—Mrs. Rene Sabourin, 9—Mrs. Charles Neumeire, 10—Mrs. C. L. Harrison, 11 and 12—Open, 13 and 15—Mrs. Jos. Fires Threaten Farm Buildings

Soo Hill Blaze First Of 1951 Season

The first reported fire of the 1951 season occurred yesterday afternoon and for a time threatened damage or destroy farm buildings at Soo Hill until brought under control.

The grass fire started about 1 p. m. and was out by 4 p. m. and came within 300 or 400 feet of the farm homes of Carl Mattson and Mrs. Anna Peterson, a widow.

Conservation department pumps and crews were dispatched to Soo Hill and they controlled the blaze. About two acres were burned over, reported John Chriske, Escanaba district conservation headquarters supervisor.

Chriske said the grass is dry as tinder in open places. The fire hazard is sufficiently high that Ernest Rushford, towerman at Rapid River, was placed on temporary duty at the Flat Rock tower.

The other grass fires were reported yesterday in the vicinity of Escanaba.

Fire Technician John Anguilm, Marquette, warned that careless burning of refuse was the cause of most early spring fires.

Burning permits are required to burn refuse, brush or grass when the grass is not snow-covered. These permits can be obtained from any of the conservation district offices, conservation officers, fire wardens or towermen.

1951 Spud Preview:

Efficiency A Must This Year, Growers Advised

It now appears that in 1951 potato growers will be operating without benefit of price supports for the first time since 1942.

This means that efficiency in production and marketing will be of major importance as the potato industry adjusts itself to consumer demand.

U. S. potato acreage declined to a new low of 1,847,000 acres in 1950, but a new record high yield of 238 bushels per acre produced the second largest crop on record—440,000,000 bushels, which was about 100,000,000 bushels more than domestic needs.

A recently released USDA report on "Intentions to Plant Potatoes in 1951" indicates a further acreage reduction of 15 per cent to 1,590,000 acres. Even this low acreage could easily produce a crop in excess of demand.

Upper Peninsula potato growers do have some things in their favor. They are relatively close to large centers of population; they have the climate, soil, equipment and "know how" to get high yields of quality potatoes.

After pointing out these facts to Delta County potato growers at the Cornell town hall Monday evening, William Cargio, Michigan State College crops and soils specialist, recommended that while it is desirable to hold down production costs that it should not be done by slighting those well known practices, such as the use of good seed, adequate amounts of fertilizers and spray applications, etc., that boost yields and quality.

Production Costs

Attention should be directed toward low cost per bushel, which is not the same as low cost per acre.

In five trials, two of which were in the Upper Peninsula, there was very little increase in potato yield by plowing down fertilizer. The most economical method and rate of application was in the row at 800 pounds per acre. 3-12-12 was the analysis used in the trial.

As an indication of cost of production, Cargio presented some information from Ontario which

City Approves All Licenses

Liquor And Beer Permits Reissued

All liquor and beer licenses in Escanaba were approved for renewal by the Escanaba city council last night, upon recommendation of the chief of police.

A request from Ted Breitenbach, operator of the Stone House, 23rd street, for a tourist liquor license was received by the council and referred to the chief of police. The city clerk reported that the liquor control commission has indicated that it will not approve tourist liquor licenses within the city limits.

10-Day Extension

The council accepted a 10-day extension in the time limit for awarding the water filtration construction project, offered by the Pearson Construction company, the low bidder. The 60 day period provided in the notice to bidders is insufficient to complete the technical details of the project. Councilman Nev Reynolds expressed criticism of Harris Hall and Company, the city's bond consultants, and Consoer and Townsend, consulting engineers, for failure to provide a time limit on the acceptance of bids of sufficient duration to complete the technical details of the bonding program.

Other actions taken by the council last night include the following:

Approved a 20 year lease to Phoenix Lumber Company for city property on Fifth avenue north, east of 16th street, subject to a satisfactory compensation agreement.

Tabled a proposal to conduct an auction sale of fixtures and appliances removed from units of the veterans housing project. The council sought additional information on the costs of the proposed auction.

Referred a series of petitions for blacktop paving of 12 blocks of city streets to the city engineering department for cost estimates.

Better Lighting

Approved in principle the installation of better lighting facilities at the intersection of Stephenson avenue and North Third avenue.

Adopted a resolution of condolence to the family of the late Stanton Abrahamson, city gas plant director.

Received a request from Frank Beaudry for installation of sidewalks in the area surrounding the intersection of 23rd street and Ludington street. The council advised Beaudry to get approval of property owners in that area to the proposed improvement before submitting the matter before the council.

Approved informally the planning commission's request that communications between the commission and the council be submitted in writing, but took no action on the planning commission budget until it can be studied in relationship to budgets of other city departments.

Heard from John Gannon a protest that a $5 city license for inspection of taverns is unjust because the taverns already are assessed a state license fee, the major portion of which reverts to the city.

Touring U. Of M. Band To Play Here April 12

The spring tour of the University of Michigan symphony band will bring Director William D. Revelli and 67 musicians to Escanaba on Thursday, April 12, one of seven Northern Michigan cities on the tour schedule.

Leaving Ann Arbor Saturday the band will play at two cities in Lower Michigan and then appear at Sault Ste. Marie April 9, Iron Mountain April 10, Iron River April 11, Escanaba April 12, and Manistique April 13.

The evening concerts here and at Manistique will begin at 8:15 o'clock. In Escanaba the concert will be in Wm. Oliver Memorial auditorium, and at Manistique, in the High school auditorium.

Band Wins Praise

The sale of tickets is under way and in Escanaba they may be obtained at Delta Music Center, Gust Asp's, Peoples Drug, West End Drug, and the Chamber of Commerce office.

In completing preparations for the spring tour, the band organization was materially assisted by Charles L. Follo, supervisor of the University's extension service center at Escanaba. Follo completed arrangements for the schedule in the five Upper Peninsula cities.

William D. Revelli, director of the University's symphony band, received his doctor of music degree in 1947. His career as a band conductor began in 1925.

Revelli came to U. of M. in 1935 and through the years has created Marching Band and Symphony Band organizations that have won national attention. Revelli is a member of the American Bandmaster's association, National School Band association and National Band Conductors association.

Clinic for Students

Concerts also will be presented in the afternoons at each of the cities on the tour.

These are designed especially for school children and will be followed by specialized clinics for high school bandmen. Revelli, Assistant Director Jack Lee, and members of the U. of M. band will help in directing the clinics.

The band clinic in Escanaba will start at 3 p. m. and will be for students from schools in Delta and Menominee counties. The student band members are invited to wear their uniforms.

Cooperating in arrangements for the clinics here is the Escanaba Band Boosters association, representing 150 families of Escanaba school band members. Clarence Sovey is chairman of the local Band Boosters' association.

Trout Planted From Hatchery

No Runs Of Smelt Are Reported

Regional Fisheries Supervisor James A. Scully, Department of Conservation, Marquette, reports that the first loads of brook trout were planted yesterday from the Marquette hatchery. All trout were legal size and were planted in Marquette county streams.

Plants from Thompson and Watersmeet hatcheries will follow as soon as road conditions permit. Also, 400,000 lake trout fry (1" to 1½" in length) were stocked in Lake Superior in the Marquette area today.

No runs of smelt in the streams in Delta County have yet been reported although commercial fishermen during the last few days have been taking tons of smelt from their pond nets.

U. P. School Musicians To Give Concert Here

The best school musicians from 14 Upper Peninsula communities will present a concert in the William W. Oliver auditorium in Escanaba at 8 o'clock Saturday evening.

The concert will open with a group of selections by an orchestra of 130 players and the last half of the program will be presented by a choir of 233 voices. Music directors from the different schools will take their turns as conductors for the various numbers.

The program will be as follows:
Upper Peninsula Orchestra

1. March of the Meistersingers, Wagner.
2. Prayer from Hansel and Gretel, Humperdinck.
3. Siesta, Isaac.
4. One Morning in May, Camichael.
5. Finale from the Fifth Symphony, Beethoven.

Smelt Recipes Offered Public

Appetizing ways of fixing smelt, suckers and carp caught in spring runs are explained in free recipe leaflets offered by the state conservation department.

Smelt and carp recipe folders also are available from the Michigan State College experiment station. Recipes have been tested at the college.

The department urges more persons to try these food fishes. Carp and suckers, especially, long have been underrated on the market.

Protests Against College Draft Deferment Plan Are Mounting

THE cries of protests that are developing throughout the nation on the new draft deferment plan for college students are not likely to escape the attention of congressmen. General Hershey's announcement of the college deferment plan has set off a controversy of which much will be heard in the days ahead.

Under the plan announced by the selective service director, at least half of the college freshmen, two-thirds of the sophomores and three-fourths of the juniors will be exempted from the draft. A minimum of half of the seniors in any college will be eligible for deferment if they elect to take postgraduate work.

The broad objective of the program, of course, is to protect higher education by making it possible for colleges and universities to remain open. It is argued that unless some such deferment schedule is provided, college enrollment will dwindle to the point that it will not be financially feasible for these institutions to operate. Another theory in this program is that the nation's interests require an uninterrupted flow of college-trained men to take their places in science, business, industry, the professions, etc.

Few people will deny that it is desirable to keep the nation's institutions of higher learning in operation. There is not so much general acceptance of the contention that it should be accomplished in the manner outlined by the draft director.

The weakness in the plan is that it makes possible the deferment of youths who come from families financially able to send their sons to college, but does not provide the same privilege of deferment for youths, who may be equally intelligent, but who are unfortunate enough to come from families lacking financial strength.

The plan is one that breeds class distinction based upon wealth and as such it is in sharp conflict with the principle of American democracy.

The sons of the rich can go to college and escape military service, but the sons of the poor have no choice except induction into the army and, if necessary, to shed their blood so that democracy may survive.

The sacrifices required in this national emergency should be shared as equally as possible by the rich and the poor.

Traitors Given

Death Sentences

THE death sentences passed by Federal Judge Kaufman in New York on Julius Rosenberg and his wife, Ethel, for delivering atomic bomb secrets to Russia are in conformity with the enormity of their crime.

Judge Kaufman told the Rosenbergs, "Plain deliberate murder is dwarfed by your acts." He expressed a viewpoint that is shared by loyal Americans generally. The traitorous acts of the Rosenbergs were more than reprehensible. Their acts of treason may have been a factor in Russia's aggression in Korea and thereby the cause of the death of thousands of American soldiers.

One thing is certain. Because of the Rosenbergs, the Russian timetable for developing the atom bomb was moved up at least two years.

The death sentences of the Rosenbergs are befitting their crime—a crime not against one or two persons, but against the entire nation and its fight for survival against a cruel, godless enemy.

THE LONG FUTURE (Iron Mountain News)

Announcement today of plans for the construction of a pilot plant in the Groveland mine area of Dickinson county, by the Hanna Coal and Ore Corporation, for the processing of low-grade ore found in that region, will be received here with genuine enthusiasm, despite the emphatic statement of Supt. S. E. Quayle, at Iron River, that the development is strictly experimental.

For many years past—ever since the first underground iron ore property in this area closed down—speculation about the processing of low-grade ores has been a foremost topic among mining men and other residents who have been concerned for the future. The fact that this region abounds in low-grade ore is accepted. The big question has always been how to get it into commercial production on a profitable basis.

The new pilot plant, according to Supt. Quayle, will be concerned with the process of beneficiation—the grinding of the ore into fine powder, through a series of operations, and the ultimate extraction of the desired product in a quantity that would make it commercially profitable if pursued beyond the experimental stage.

The superintendent said that the answer should be forthcoming after an estimated six or seven months operation. At that point, depending on the results, the program would be dropped as not feasible or would be continued and expanded in the direction of commercial production. It is the latter eventually on which the long future of mining in this region is based. It is on that factor, also, that the interest of every resident of the district is eagerly and hopefully focused.

There is encouragement, certainly, in the fact that the Hanna company has not been guessing in the proceeding up to this point. The decision to go forward with the pilot plant came after extensive exploration and careful study of the results. The company would not risk an outlay of the extent involved herein if it did not have something more than a hunch about the ultimate result.

It is a new and dramatic chapter in the history of a region which needed this news to bolster a somewhat lagging economic spirit.

Nehru Fails To Grasp Democracy

PRIME MINISTER NEHRU of India, who spent a good part of 1950 behaving as if communism and democracy were either both bad or both good, at last has given some public evidence of a saner view.

In an interview with Robert Trumbull of the New York Times, the Indian leader made it clear that he abhors Red expansionism and the suppression of human liberties by the Communist governments in many lands.

The international Red movement, he said, flagrantly violates the basic principles of his own personal creed. He does not want to see communism in India nor does he approve of it elsewhere.

"My personal reaction is that the Communist party is completely unscrupulous," he told his interviewer. "It believes in achieving results by any means, whatever they may be."

Nehru intended this statement as an answer to those who feel he has up to now shown greater concern over a fading western colonialism in Asia than he has over the spread of evil communism.

As a declaration of basic attitude, what he said is indeed welcome in the West. Nehru may well contend he has felt this way all along; western leaders could only reply that he has a strange way of showing it.

How could he argue for yielding to Communist blackmail in phony "peace" deals affecting Korea and other parts of Asia? How could he propose compromising with evil?

Quite accidentally, he hinted at one possible explanation in his interview with Trumbull. Discussing new truce efforts with the Reds over Korea, he said: "A cease-fire or a truce is always a good thing in itself." The key words here are "in itself."

What he said in effect was that an absence of shooting is always desirable, no matter what the price. He defines peace as "non-violence," whereas the postwar years have taught us all that war can be fought by many methods short of gunfire.

To the extent Nehru still holds to this notion he is still a tragically naive figure. He is unable to grasp the full and terrible meaning of communism, despite his professions of abhorrence for it. For in the Communist world, truce and negotiation are not steps to peace. They are merely different tactics in an unending war fought on all fronts.

Nehru's latest comment is interesting on another point. Like many others, he seeks to distinguish between "pure" Marxist communism and the "corrupted" version practiced by the Russians, their puppets and their agents throughout the world.

He believes, in other words, that a Communist state directed by high-minded idealists might be no menace at all to free men elsewhere. Others argue, though, that the internal compulsions of communism inevitably spill over national borders and make for a ruthless imperialism.

But this issue is largely academic, since the Russian variety is the only kind we're likely to see much of in the next few decades. Its only importance is in revealing once again that Nehru's mind is extremely receptive to alternatives to democracy—and too little impressed with the values of democracy.

Originals

There is oftentimes a likeness in the clothing worn by gents, and you see the same suit more than once at sociable events. And it's mostly just a cause for jokes by men who dress as twins, when they find they purchased suits alike to cover up their skins. But just let the same thing happen in the world of female dress, and it brings about commotion that is tragedy, no less!

Now you often hear a dame discuss the finer points of style, and she wants no part of dresses which are worn by rank and file. An "original" is what she craves in any brand new gown, to be certain that it can't be matched by anyone in town. Or at least she hopes it's likely that the dress is all her own, and the privilege to wear it will be hers and hers alone.

Thus she proudly makes her entrance at a very swanky tea, and she's eager to display her gown for all the girls to see. But her life is simply ruined and she suffers great disgrace, when, upon another gal she meets her garments laid to face. So you're glad that you're a man who lives with no exclusive urge, and that nothing is original about your old blue serge.

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The questions I have heard most frequently since returning from Europe are: "What do they think of us abroad? Why don't they like us better?"

The questions are important. Because, while we have poured billions into Europe, first to win a war, then to feed Europe after the war, later to reconstruct it, now to rearm it, the fact remains that we are not popular.

To some degree our popularity can be measured by the distance of each country from the iron curtain. In Turkey, Yugoslavia, Berlin—and cheek-and-jowl with the Iron Curtain—we are popular. But as you travel west away from Russia, fear lessens, and so does our popularity.

In Western Europe, however, if you get away from the newspaper comment, away from the cartoons and the sophisticated drawing-room conversations, you will find a lot of genuine friendship for Americans among the real people of such countries as France. It comes out in little ways—such as an automobile mechanic who refuses to be paid for helping an American automobilist in the French countryside, or the quiet tearing-down of Communist posters denouncing Eisenhower.

It is in England, a country with no language barrier and our strongest cultural tie, where we most need to build up our popularity fences. For in no other country is there more gibing at the United States.

WHY THE GIBES?

There are several reasons for this, most of them easy to understand:

Reason No. 1—The United States has replaced Britain as the dominant world power, and no nation is ever popular when the former No. 1 nation starts playing No. 2.

Reason No. 2—The U. S. A. has been put in the light of wanting war and of pushing Europe into war. While this is not true, nevertheless the statements of certain irresponsible senators and generals, such as Gen. Orvil Anderson (relieved at Montgomery, Ala.), favoring a preventive war, have the British scared. They are afraid that, by being the tail on the American kite, they will find themselves flipped into war without having any chance to pause or argue.

Reason No. 3—The British have tightened their belts to such an extent that their meat ration is now no greater than during the war—eight pence a week. In contrast they can't help watching a wealthy, unrationed U. S. A. Naturally they are jealous.

British meat-rationing, incidentally, is not because the British can't get meat, but because meat costs precious dollar exchange. And the Labor government is making heroic efforts to cut out luxury imports and stabilize its trade balance.

Reason No. 4—Is differences with the U. S. A. over China and General MacArthur. While you find criticism of MacArthur all over Europe, it reaches a white heat in England. There he is sometimes called "The First Satrap of the American Empire." MacArthur, to the British, is an advance warning of what would happen in any Allied war, an American general, they fear, would dominate a weak White House and likewise the fate of Britain.

Furthermore there is grave misgiving that MacArthur is trying to spread the Korean war to China just for the purpose of expanding his own power. No matter how unjustified this misgiving, it is deep—and a serious factor in our relations with our hitherto understanding Ally.

ANGLO-U. S. SPOKESMEN NEEDED
The above reasons are basic and cannot be changed easily. But there are other public-opinion factors which could be changed overnight, if responsible people at the top worked at them.

Here are two examples:
1. Admiral W. F. Fichteler—The storm of British resentment over the appointment of this American admiral to command the Atlantic fleet under the North Atlantic pact could easily have been avoided by Prime Minister Attlee himself. Real fact was that he was poorly informed. When Winston Churchill upbraided Attlee on the floor of Commons for permitting Admiral Fichteler's appointment, Attlee apparently did not know, certainly did not reply, that a British commander would take over all fleet operations around British waters, the North Sea, and in the eastern part of the Atlantic. If this had been announced, there would have been no real criticism by the British public.

2. Canned Mexican Meat—The British government's purchase of U. S. surplus beef, from Mexican cattle butchered under the hoof-and-mouth disease program, also stirred up a lot of unnecessary ill will. The British press and people got the idea that Uncle Sam was casting off this supposedly "tainted" meat as a bone to his poor relatives in Britain. The meat was going to Britain, according to the British press, because Americans considered it unfit for human consumption. Real fact, however, was that this canned meat from Mexico was far more sanitary and less diseased than the chilled and frozen beef Britain has long imported from Argentina.

STREET SCENE IN ATOM CITY: Los Alamos residents walk through the shopping area of town's 12,000 residents. Modern building in the background is the U. S. Post Office.

ATOMIC AGE HOUSING: Los Alamos officials have begun to solve the town's housing problem with apartments like these. Rents for houses and apartments range from $45 to $135.

Los Alamos, New Mexico's Atom City, Sets Pace For Defense Of America

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

LOS ALAMOS, N. M.—(NEA)—

Every U. S. citizen whose faith might be lagging in America's ability to defend itself against Communist aggression ought to spend a day or so at this atomic Shangri-la.

It isn't anything the people here will come right out and tell you, or show you. One of the big things that builds up your confidence is the completely rigid, yet intelligent, security they've now imposed.

It's in the mood of the employees and atmosphere of the community. Somehow the place breathes calm confidence in the quality of the mysterious work going on in the strange-shaped labs and plants, which you can see across the heavy fences separating the "tech area" from the community life of Los Alamos.

Nowhere here do you find the panic or fear talk so characteristic of Washington, D. C., for instance. Nor do you find the ignorance or lack of interest in what's going on in the rest of the world that you find in so many U. S. communities. They know what's going on in the world here. And they aren't frightened by that knowledge.

Nowhere else, in a nation-wide tour of military and defense plant installations, did this reporter find the diligence, interest in job and plain hard work that exist here. A major section of the tech area is on a six-day week. Everybody puts in dozens of hours of overtime a month.

At least in the offices and shops they do let you see you don't find the "coffee break," so universal at the military bases and war plants around the country, which in effect has the defense effort on a 35-hour week.

You don't see clock-watching. You don't see the employees with their hats and coats on waiting to charge off to the nearest bar at the instant of quitting time.

A typical Los Alamos housewife says: "I expect my husband when I see him each night. He gets interested in something he's doing and doesn't know when to quit."

The feeling probably boils down to this:

Atomic weapons are being produced here. All the fantastic future atomic weapons in the blueprint or development stage are processed here. You can assume that every scrap of intelligence on Russian atomic developments is known to the experts here. Yet nobody seems to be frightened about the present or future. At least they're less scared than the citizens lots of other places around the country.

The suggestion that many U. S. citizens should pay a visit to Los Alamos is strictly hypothetical. They've only very recently begun to see daylight on the problem of housing employees. And that has helped kill one of the big bugs in the whole program—turnover due to poor living conditions. Approximately 12,000 persons live in Los Alamos. Another 3000 commute from nearby communities.

Nearly every phase of life in this atom city is unique. The town's best-seller is the "High Altitude Cook Book." Los Alamos sits on a remote, rough plateau 7600 feet above sea-level. Everyone in New Mexico refers to it as "The Hill." All children over seven must carry identification cards. If you don't mow your own lawn the city will come around and do it for you and charge you two bucks. That's because of the danger of erosion.

For $50 a year any resident can play golf on one of the sportiest and most scenic courses in the country. An hour's hike from your house there's excellent skiing, big-game hunting, mountain-stream fishing and ice skating.

Is Uncle Sam making life too fat for these atom workers? Not when you discover that the average salary is in the neighborhood of $3500 a year.

Some of the city's basic statistics are also unique. More than 85 per cent of the population are under 40. One-third of the 12,000 persons are children of school age. The citizens spend less of their income on clothing than in any city in the country. Life is informal. There hasn't been a traffic fatality in the city for five years.

Nobody in Los Alamos can own his own home; Uncle Sam is the exclusive landlord. Apartments and houses rent from $45 to $135. Furnished dormitory rooms range from $19 to $35. For some reason a house with a fireplace is the premium place in which to live.

To the eye, Los Alamos is a treat. Gorgeous mountain scenery backgrounds the beautifully laid-out residential sections with their cozy modern houses. The approach, a winding mountain road with magnificent vistas, sets the mood for your sudden entrance into the amazing city.

For the visitor there's a beautiful mountain lodge in the center of the city that looks like something out of a Hollywood set.

Also for the visitor is the distinct impression that here, at least, the taxpayer is getting his money's worth and Uncle Sam seems to know what he's doing.

Letters From The People

Draft Exemptions

Dear Editor:

As I do not entirely agree with your editorial of March 29 on "Draft Exemptions On Basis Of Scholarships Wrong In Principle," I would like to express my opinion on why I do not agree with you.

The October Readers' Digest of 1950 carried an article condensed from the Saturday Evening Post by Hanson W. Baldwin revealing our shortcomings during the last war, when quantity and sometimes superiority of material not quality of soldiering or military leadership won us most of our victories outside of the victories won through the technical skills of the navy and air-power.

With no discrimination in draft, this should convince us that in the brains to produce technical skills and tools of war and not in our manpower lies the safety and future of the world itself.

With only a sixth of the world's population and this only able to produce second and third rate soldiers, out of the best, we have to face facts much as we hate them. It is better to face facts now than to be sorry when it is too late.

Our enemy is not fighting with its manpower, only making use of its tireless propaganda machine to stir up puppet manpower to do its fighting while it saves its own.

The enemy has been content to do this for a good many years and will probably be satisfied to do this for years to come if its hand is not forced.

In the United Nations Organization the free democratic people of the world have a tool to force this enemy to show its hand.

According to the humanitarian objectives of the U. N. O. we and all peoples, who believe in a free and democratic world, are pledged to discourage aggression in all parts of the world and punish aggressors for their acts when proven guilty.

Threat of a blockade and punishment of an aggressor nation's leaders should stay the hand of its leaders; if it does not the only hope of civilization seems to lie in the policing of all nations through an impartial U. N. O. police force.

Another case of aggression proves that even war and the chance to make war should be outlawed.

All nations, whose intentions are honorable, should be anxious to support this effort.

When we remember all those who have fought and given up the lives and dreams they cherished to bring about a greater dream of life and peace for the future generations through the U. N. O. it is our solemn duty to see that those who violate this trust are punished, not left to prey on future generations, without partiality, fear, or selfishness through our best efforts.

Minnie Ida Mattson, Newberry, Mich., Maple Hill, Box 202.

I don't know whether criminals are getting smarter, but they're getting a lot more professional. Some of our laws will need re-appraisal if we're going to keep up the pace.—Virgil Peterson, director Chicago Crime Commission.

SPANISH SWINDLE—Latest intended victim of the old but now usually unsuccessful Spanish swindle is E. L. "Roy" Goodman, Escanaba druggist.

Once upon a time the Spanish swindle tricksters made plenty of hay in luring dupes into their clutches to be fleeced of anything from pennies to hundreds of thousands of dollars. In more recent years it has failed because it has been so often tried and has been given wide publicity.

Roy Goodman turned his letter over to Escanaba Police Chief M. F. Ettenhofer, who points out the swindle appears to be on a well-organized basis. The racketeers have worked names listed in other professions in the past.

Now they are down to either D (for druggists) or P (for pharmacists).

THE LATIN MIND—As the name indicates, the Spanish swindle stems from a sunny but avaricious Latin mind.

It was practiced in the south of Europe long before it was heard of in the Americas. Now the bait letters come from Mexico, Cuba, and the Latin American countries.

The letter received by Roy Goodman is typed, was written under date of March 21, 1951 from Mexico City, and the "friend" to whom Roy is referred for contact is Sr. Alberto Vega of Mexico City.

FORM LETTER—The Spanish swindle letters are so similar they might be termed form letters.

"Dear Sir," confides the writer, "a person who knows you and who has highly spoken about you has made me trust you a very delicate matter of which depends the entire future of my daughter as well as my existence—"

From that point on the writer (who reveals himself only as "V.") tells a familiar story of being in prison in Mexico (or Cuba, or Panama, or some other Central American country) with $385,000 in his suit case held in an American customs house.

If the kind American to whom the letter is addressed will go to the friend named (in this case Sr. Vega) and put up a bit of cash to get the suit case out of lock, Mr. "V." will give him one-third of the fortune.

SUCKER BAIT—The sucker bait letters have gone a bit modern in recent years. They now ask the intended victim to "air mail" his reply to Sr. Vega.

When such a letter is received from a prospective American sucker by Sr. Vega, he will respond with another letter, making an appointment below the Rio Grande.

There the whole affair will be surrounded with the utmost secrecy, with only the guileless American and the swindlers in on the deal. The police will be kept strictly out of the picture for reasons needless to state.

BEAUTIFUL SENORITA—The American will be introduced by Sr. Vega to the beautiful daughter of the fictitious Mr. "V." and she will pour out the charm like everything.

When the money is produced by the American sucker to get the suit case and the fortune out of lock, she will be grateful — very grateful in a warm and impulsive way.

And at the moment she is being impulsive, Sr. Vega, the dear friend, will come rushing in to shout outrage and curses. The senorita, the trusting daughter of his poor pal, has been violated. Epithets upon the Gringo dog, etc.

If the American reacts as he is supposed to he will try to explain, to no avail. They will not believe that he is an honorable man. They can no longer trust him. He must go.

Should he demand return of his money, down payment on one-third of the fortune, they threaten to call the police. That is usually enough to send the respectable American high-tailing it north, content to keep his good name intact for a price.

Note: The racketeers must be down to D (for druggists and doctors) for Dr. L. J. Heiden of Escanaba, Delta county veterinarian, received a letter dated Feb 7 from Sr. Tomas Flores of Mexico City. The fortune in escrow, however, was $449,000.

READERS WANT TO KNOW

Oakland: At a small gathering the other evening we discussed the word "avizandum." Will you please Colbyize it for us? —J. L.

A. Avizandum is a Middle Latin word used in Scots law. It means "private consideration," and applies to a judge's act of withdrawing a record from the files of a case for private examination and consideration. Pronounce it: AV-i-zan-dum.

St. Louis: How did the "funny bone" get its name?—Mrs. R. S.

A. It is a "humeral" allusion to the humerus bone against which the ulnar nerve presses when the back of the elbow is struck, producing a tingling sensation. It is also called the "crazy bone."

Los Angeles: Is the first "i" short in the word isolationist?—H. C.

A. In Standard American the "i" is long as in "island," thus: EYE-suh-LAY-shun-ist.

Grafton: How about an opinion on the word percale. The dictionaries say "per-KAL," but I hear the word otherwise. —M. S. S.

A. The dictionaries contain many pronunciations which people never use. The Standard American pronunciation is: per-KAL, second syllable rhyming with pal, gal.

Chicago: We have an argument about the plural of the word caboose. Some of us think it is "cabesees."—S. V.

A. Sorry, no. Form the plural by adding -es, thus: caboosees.

Gaithersburg: Please give the pronunciation of corduroy.—Mrs. C. B. F.

A. Say: KAWR-duh-roy.

Washington: How do you distinguish in pronunciation between the words gorilla and guerilla?—B. W.

Pres. Truman's Prestige Has Hit New Low Point

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON—While the evidence for it may seem somewhat scanty, there are those close to President Truman who believe that he is definitely concerned over the course of events in Washington in recent weeks.
He knows that steps must be taken to correct the bad impression created by the series of disclosures coming out of the Senate investigation into crime, corruption and collusion. If any demonstration had been needed of the decline in his prestige and influence, the Senate has just given it in full and overflowing measure.
Considers Speaking Tour
Returning from Florida, the president said he had just about decided it was time to go on another speaking tour across the country. He is reported to have thought of late April or early May as an appropriate time to tell off a laggard Congress.

But it was pointed out that such a trip coming so quickly after the headlines generated by Senator Kefauver, Fulbright & Co. would inevitably look like a defensive move. Therefore, the effect would be nullified almost at the outset. Let the people cool off a little bit first, the argument went, and this counsel seems to have prevailed. Quite apart, however, from anything that may be said in refutation or rebuttal, certain of the president's advisers are acutely aware of the things that need to be done if confidence is to be restored and the descending spiral of the president's popularity at least checked. High on the list they put the status of Former Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York as ambassador to Mexico.

O'Dwyer has now flown back to Mexico City. President Aleman sent his personal plane for him, according to the news stories, as a mark of his respect and confidence.
But before too long O'Dwyer will discover that the altitude of the Mexican capital is not good for his health. He will resign as ambassador and his resignation will be accepted with an appropriate but mild expression of regret from the White House. That, at any rate, is the confident belief of those in the president's family who hold that it is no longer possible to ignore the public protest.

Friends of O'Dwyer insist that he has been very badly used—hailed before a committee that was a public spectacle in which none of the rules of legal evidence apply and subjected to wholly unfounded charges. They swear that he is innocent of taking the $10,000 campaign contribution that another witness said he gave the former mayor.

Whatever the merits or demerits of the charges before the Kefauver committee, the appointment of O'Dwyer to be ambassador was wrong in the first instance. A capable career diplomat was removed and O'Dwyer was put in the job to get him out of the troubled political picture in New York City. Even if he had been another Talleyrand, there could hardly have been a worse reason for appointing him.

Word from Mexico City before the ambassador became a witness in the crime investigation indicated that he was showing something less than a talent for diplomacy. Ambassador and Mrs. O'Dwyer were invited to a large dinner in honor of a distinguished visitor to Mexico City. Through a secretary they first accepted and then canceled the acceptance with word that a previous commitment of long standing had been overlooked. Later the distinguished visitors was told that the O'Dwyers had dined at home alone together.

Dawson Under Fire
The status of another figure who made the headlines growing out of the rash of Senate investigations is also at issue in the inner discussions at the White House. That is presidential assistant Donald Dawson who was accused of bringing influence to bear in connection with loans made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Dawson has several times been publicly encouraged by the Fulbright committee to come up voluntarily and testify. At least one of the resident's more thoughtful advisers strongly urged Dawson to go while he still could go voluntarily and not in response to a committee subpoena. His reply was that questions would be asked

Ore Centennial At Iron River

$35,000 Is Needed To Finance Event

IRON RIVER—Between $30,000 and $35,000 will be needed to finance the Iron Ore centennial at Iron River, Mich., on July 1-7, Dr. Herman Simon, executive celebration secretary, told the Iron River Business Men's association at a dinner meeting at Mertins' cafe last night.

After giving a progress report on the centennial planning, Dr. Simon appointed Harold J. Richards, of Caspian, general superintendent for Pickands, Mather and company, as chairman of the money-raising committee. Richards, a guest at the meeting, said that the mining companies of the district will cooperate with the advisory group 100 per cent in financing and participating in the centennial.

Dr. Simon said that the committee thus far was engaged in mostly planning, but had no money with which to operate. On Mr. Richards' suggestion, the finance committee will at once work on framing a budget, to determine how much money will be needed to put on the show. It was at this point that Dr. Simon suggested that about $35,000 will be required.

'Darkness At Noon' Top Play Of Year

NEW YORK — (AP) — Sidney Kingsley's dramatization of Arthur Koestler's novel, "Darkness At Noon," has been selected as the best American play of the year by the New York drama critics' circle.

The Abe Burrows-Joe Swerling-Frank Loesser musical, "Guys And Dolls," was voted the best musical. Christopher Fry's comedy in blank verse, "The Lady's Not For Burning," won first place in foreign awards. Fry is English.

"Darkness At Noon" received ten votes, two more than "Billy Budd"—which almost closed after its Feb. 10 opening because of poor critical reviews.

$400 Judgment Is Awarded Against C&NW

MARQUETTE, Mich.—A consent judgment was agreed upon by the plaintiff and defendant in a case in United States district court here yesterday afternoon, with $400 awarded the plaintiff.

Plaintiff in the case was the United States and defendant was the Chicago & North Western Railway Company. The defendant also was ordered to pay $68 in costs.

The civil action arose out of an alleged violation of the Safety Appliance Acts by the railway at Ironwood. Action was taken at the request of the Interstate Commerce Commission and upon information furnished by the I.C.C. Each of the four causes of action of the complaint dealt with the safety equipment on a hand brake on a car of the C. & N. W.

The car in question was being hauled from Ironwood toward Ashland, Wis., last Oct. 16, when the hand brake was alleged to have been out of repair and inefficient.

Planet Usually Hidden By Sun Is Visible In April

ANN ARBOR—One of our most elusive planets, Mercury, will be visible in the western sky shortly after sunset during the early part of April.

On April 5, the planet will not set until about one and one-half hours after the sun has gone down, according to Dr. Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

"Mercury should be easily identified just above the western horizon, although it will not be nearly as bright as Venus which will be higher in the western sky," she reports.

"Because Mercury is always close to the sun and has a dull appearance, it is usually hard to see. However, it will reach its greatest distance east of the sun on April 5 and will be on display right after sunset during the first two weeks of the month."

The planets and the appearance of the constellations which mark the spring and summer skies will be just about all the excitement

CHORE MILES
DES MOINES, Iowa—(AP)—How many chores does a farmer walk doing chores? Ross Childs, farming north of Manchester, found that he traveled 491 miles a year while taking care of 13 cows plus young stock. The study was made by Herb Howell, extension farm management specialist.

Since then, Childs has remodeled the barn which was a conventional stanchion-type. Now he has a loading area-milking parlor structure. With the new setup he is walking 319 miles annually and taking care of 20 cows and additional calves.

Price Control Another Mess

Housewife Puzzled Over Food Costs

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—If there is any body in the house who can tell a simple bill payer what the devil goes on with this new system of price controls on food, as recently dreamed in Washington, I will send him by undying thanks and also by butcher's thumb, on a silver salver. (Butchers' thumbs are going at the present rate of $2,000 per ounce, according to the latest bulletin from Mike Di-Salle).

To the best of my knowledge no living person, including Albert Einstein and Virginia Hill, can tell you exactly how the new controls work. The salient fact that I glean is that the same foods will cost you more in some places than others, except those which are not controlled under the new ukase, except those, of course, which are not controlled at all—and not likely to be so long as the farm bloc exists.

Like Dog Show
The existing regulations have been issued with separate emphasis for chain retailers, independent retailers, and whole salers. Grocers are supposed to re-juggle the prices on their goods every Monday, according to the signs of the zodiac and the electrical impulses from the latest Washington scandals, but where it leaves the housewife, the housewife knoweth not.

The whole thing reminds you of a dog show with no leashes. Even Washington, according to latest bulletins, is unsure of what exactly is going on, and promises revisions, whether up, down or sideways is hard to say. But there is precious little protection here for the ordinary lady with a budget to control; and no room in it to buy a slide rule and a copy of the latest commodity quotations.

Pigs is Pigs
As a reasonably stupid fellow who is held accountable for the monthly grocery tab, you can't tell me that it needs calculus to figure the going price of cabbage. Nor a set of interlocking formulae to set a ceiling on grub. Pigs is pigs.

Quotes from on high have said that it may be six months before a solid dollar-and-cents stabilization may be placed on the humble cabbages, and that it will be impossible to fix the prices at a pre-Korean level. This is governmental hocus-pocus unknown to the average man.

They can damn well fix you a swift income-tax increase on an overnight basis, or declare you in on a war, or make you eligible for a draft, or tell you that you can't buy a spare tire for your car. But they can fritter around with trigonometric approaches to what fills your belly until caviar is underselling beans.

And I will tell you why, in simple little words. The political approach to price-fixing on food is a tremendously delicate thing, apt to enrage the farmers and the bull growers and the dairy-men, whose vote is necessary.

Overlooking Housewife
What I think they overlook is that they are underestimating the anger of the housewife who is not married to a farmer or a cattle raiser, and who shrieks aloud at the tilts in her grocery bill. And who blows her top at such an obvious inequity as different prices for the same commodity, for controls here and no controls there, and for fiddling and fad-dling with any definite step to anchor the living cost which currently eats her alive.

If controls there must be, controls should start at the bottom and work up. This is with the producers of meat and vegetables and fruit and poultry and fish and dairy products. You allow so much markup for the middleman and the retailer and boom, out comes an anchored price that even I can understand.

But the way she stands now I don't know from next Tuesday about the cost of dinner, and I don't think you do, either.

Father Waraxa Called To Duty As Army Chaplain

PERRONVILLE—The Rev. Gabriel Waraxa, pastor of St. Michael's church and the attached missions of Foster City and Northland, has been recalled to active service by the Army Chaplain's Corps. He is being relieved of his assignment here on April 9 and will report for duty with the First Armored Division at Fort Hood, Texas, on April 23.

He is being succeeded here by the Rev. Fr. Conrad Suda, for the past three years, assistant at St. John's church, Ishpeming.

Fr. Waraxa came to the Diocese in 1948, serving for a time as assistant at SS. Mary and Joseph church, Iron Mountain, and at St. Michael's and Missions since October 1948.

Fr. Waraxa, a native of Milwaukee, spent three and one-half years in the Chaplain's Corps during World War II, serving from July 27, 1942 until January 4, 1946. His first assignment was with the 26th Infantry Division. In June, 1943, he went overseas with the 1st Infantry and was in Africa, Sicily and later in Italy. While in Italy he served with the 54th Medical Battalion of II Corps. He holds five battle stars for participation in campaigns in the Northern Apennines, the Po Valley, Sicily, Rome-Arno and Naples-Foggia. He also received the Bronze Star for meritorious service.

Born on Nov. 1, 1911, Fr. Waraxa is the son of the late John Waraxa and Eva. He attended St. Casimir school, Milwaukee, St. Bonaventure high school, Sturtevant, St. Francis College, Burlington, Wis., and St. Mary's of the Angels Theological Seminary, Green Bay, Wis. He was ordained on May 29, 1938 by the Most Rev. P. P. Rhode, D. D., Bishop of Green Bay.

Boy Scout Court Of Honor Held At Hermansville

HERMANVILLE—An impressive Court of Honor was held at the Hermansville high school Tuesday evening for members of Boy Scout Troop No. 478 following the showing of a film depicting scenes from the Scout Jamboree in Philadelphia last summer.

The court of honor was conducted by James E. Gribble, Scoutmaster of Troop 478 and he was ably assisted by members of the Red Buck District committee from Nahma, Gladstone, Escanaba and Bark River.

Highlights of the evening were the awarding of four year service stars to five scouts of the troop by Alred E. Anderson of Bark River, the award of Star Scout presented to William Daniels by Claude Hawkins of Gladstone and the reception of Marvin Heezen into the troop as Assistant Scoutmaster. The five scouts who have all seen four years of service with the troop are George Whitens, David Whitens, John Belonger, William Daniels and James Lombard. The latter two boys were in attendance at the Jamboree last summer and were recognized at the court of honor and presented with souvenirs of the Jamboree by Rudy Jehn of Nahma.

Andrew Houston, district executive of the Red Buck district conducted the candle-light ceremony followed by a tenderfoot investiture service conducted by Leonard N. Elquist of Gladstone. Recruits accepted into the troop were Eugene Arduin, Gordon Barribeau, LeRoy Poquette, Peter Poquette and Robert Whitens. Second class awards were presented to William Duca and John Farley by James T. Jones of Gladstone followed by the awarding of merit badges by Dave Phalen of Nahma for proficiency as follows: James Lombard, pioneering and angling; William Daniels, woodworking, swimming and wood carving, home repair and art; William Duca, gardening, woodworking, home repairs, printing, carpentry and wood turning and Lloyd Lacasse, printing, reading and home repairs.

The court of honor was closed after a song session led by Andrew Houston followed by taps blown by John Belonger. Lunch was served by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church in Hermansville, Mrs. Joseph St. Juliana, chairman.

The shambling gait, rat-like tail, snarling, toothy "grin," beady eyes and unkempt coat all detract from the opossum's "personality."

Choral Singing At Its Best Heard In Augustana Concert

Superlatives in description often are used tritely but they may be brought out and applied in pride and justice to the Augustana College Choir's performance last evening at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium.

In pride because Augustana college of Rock Island, Ill., has maintained a tradition of high standard in choral work which apparently does not vary from year to year. Last evening's concert was the fifth appearance of the choir in Escanaba and members of the audience, the majority of whom would not miss a performance of the choir, were hard put to decide if last night's concert or one of previous years was the best.

BYRNOLF LUNDHOLM

First Friday Vigil At Hospital Chapel Tonight

The seventh First Friday all night adoration vigil will be observed at St. Francis hospital chapel beginning at 6 this evening and closing with the 6 o'clock mass at the chapel Saturday morning.

The hours are arranged so that every one interested in asking for divine assistance for the men who are in active conflict, especially for those who have no one to pray for them, may have a chance to participate. The devotion, peaceful and inspirational, has been very well attended.

The children of St. Anne's will have the 7 o'clock hour contributing the music their children's choir arranged for this devotion. All other children are invited to attend if they would like to participate.

Personals

Outstanding, too, was "Tenebrae Factae Sunt" by Poulene. The drama of the crucifixion and Christ's words on the cross seldom has found a more effective medium of expression.

Soloist of last evening's concert was Miss Carolyn Grund of Chicago who sings in the second soprano section of the choir. The lovely rounded quality and purity of tone which characterized her voice made "The Shepherd's Had an Angel" the favorite number of many listeners. She was heard again in Brahms' "Though I Speak with the Tongues of Men."

Variation was given the choral program by the usual groupings, numbers by the Jenny Lind Chorus of women and the Wenneberg chorus of men.

Encores included the familiar "There Is a Balm in Gilead" and the lovely traditional "Tryggare Kan Ingen Vara."

The able accompanist for a section of the program was Ronald Jenson who is an Augustana graduate and a member of the school of Music faculty.

Anne Hendrickson, Member

Escanaba had an added interest in the concert aside from its appreciation of fine music. Anne Hendrickson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvo E. Hendrickson, is a member of the first soprano section of the chorus.

Members of the Choral club were entertained at supper at Bethany Lutheran church early last evening and were guests in the homes of members of the parish overnight.

The concert this year was sponsored by the young people of Bethany church.

Mrs. Art Pierce Is President Of Eagles Auxiliary

Mrs. Art Pierce was elected president of the Eagles Auxiliary at the annual business meeting held at the club rooms. She succeeds Mrs. William Desmond.

Teach Your Youngsters The Parenthood Of God

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

How in this world of 1951 can we help our children to feel secure?

One way might possibly be this: to remember that while our love is important to their security, it is God who has been defined as Love itself.

One way might be to accept the idea that emotional security was what certain wise men had in mind when they taught the parenthood of God.

To accept that idea with all its meanings may be something of a revolution in your training. For example, it involves the surrender of your personal role as the giver of love and reassurance to your child in order to regard yourself as the intermediary between Love and him.

This gains him many advantages.

If, for instance, a father has made his personal affection his son's security, a notice from the draft board can threaten that security.

If a mother has made her physical presence the basis of her small daughter's trust in life, a sudden hospitalization can shake that trust.

But if they have carefully deflected their child's love for them to Love itself, their absence will not orphan him so harshly.

"Love Gave You That . . ."

A child's sense of the parenthood of God can be developed quite simply. Instead of taking credit ourselves for the pleasant experiences that come his way, we credit Love with them. When we are thanked for the new possession or the exciting treat, we can say, "Love gave you that . . ."

By sacrificing the delight we take in his appreciation of what is given and done for him, we gain for him a clearer and more unobstructed reliance on the parenthood of God.

Personally, I can't think of a better reliance to offer a child.

If we have taught him that we can guarantee him material or physical security, we have taught him what he is going to have to unlearn. For there isn't any such guarantee.

In the last analysis, that is what your child guidance expert is saying to you when he tells you that it is the "intangible of love" that supports and feeds your child.

Walter Boucher Sells His Store

Had Been In Food
Game 47 Years

Sale of Boucher's store at 17 South Tenth street to Russell Kent of Escanaba is announced by Walter E. Boucher, well known Gladstone businessman.

The new owner, who took over today, has been with the A & P Co., for 18 years and for sometime has been manager of the meat department in the chain's Super Market at Escanaba.

Disposal of the business brings to a halt, temporarily at least, a career in food merchandising that began 47 years ago in Menominee. Boucher was still a school lad when he started working in the meat market of an uncle, William Landre.

He later took over the store, only to have the venture interrupted by a hitch in the army in World War I. Mustered out, Boucher spent a year and a half in California before returning to the Upper Peninsula. He then managed the meat department at the Buckeye store until the business was liquidated in the late 30's.

Boucher then purchased the business and store building of Romeo Beauchamp on South Tenth street and has operated it very successfully the past 13 years.

While future plans are still indefinite, the Bouchers will remain in Gladstone, residing at 1101 Montana avenue.

RECENT BRIDE — The former Elsie Jean Reimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Reimer, became the bride of Lawrence M. Young in a ceremony at Memorial Methodist church. The couple will live in Gladstone at 823 Delta avenue. (Ridings Photo)

Chorus Sings In Music Festival

U. P. Fete Saturday
At Escanaba High

The chorus of Gladstone high school will participate in the Chorus and Orchestra Festival at Escanaba on Saturday.

Two numbers will be presented by the Gladstone chorus at 8:30 in the morning. They are "The Lord's Prayer" by Wilson and "King Jesus Is a Listening" arranged by Cain.

The following singers have been chosen to sing in the massed chorus program Saturday night: Joan Oathout, Vivian Belongie, Mary Lee Mackie and Gladys Lamberg, sopranos; Beatrice Brusoe, Kay DeHooghe, Dorothy DuRoy, Mary Alice Krout, Pat Hanson and Rosemary Willis, altos; Bill Beach, tenor, and Allan Seubert, Jim Gagner, Bill Cannon, Jim Johnson and Norman Thivierge, basses.

On the following Saturday, April 14, the solo and ensemble festival is being held at Marquette and on Saturday, April 28, the band festival is to be held at Marquette.

Grass Blazes Keep Firemen On Jump

Ten calls to extinguish or bring under control grass fires within the city limits have been received by the Gladstone fire department in the past three days. The major part of the fires have been on the Commons north of Superior avenue.

In areas where it is advisable to burn grass, the fire department may be called and men will supervise the burning and guard against its spread.

Briefly Told

Flown To Rochester — Mrs. Elmer Green was flown to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester Thursday afternoon by ambulance plane from Rochester. Mr. Green accompanied her on the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boucher wish to announce the sale of Boucher's store to Russell Kent, formerly of the A & P store at Escanaba. We kindly solicit your continued patronage for the new owner.

We have pleasant memories of acquaintanceships built up in our many years of business association in Gladstone and wish to extend our thanks to all our former customers, both young and old, and to representatives of the wholesale houses with which we have dealt.

1st Tanker Due This Weekend

Receives Promotion

William A. Gillette, son of Mrs. B. J. Gillette, of Gulliver, has been promoted to the grade of corporal in the United States Air Force, it was recently announced here. He is assigned to the 33d Maintenance and Supply Group of the 33d Fighter Interceptor Wing of Otis Air Force Base.

Corporal Gillette enlisted in the Air Force on July 25, 1950, at Escanaba, Michigan. He completed his basic training period at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas and was assigned to his present unit where his able and cheerful performance of his daily duties has resulted in steady promotions. The airman is a graduate of Manistique high school.

Doyle Township Meeting

The annual Doyle township meeting was held at the Town Hall Monday, April 2. The meeting was called to order at 1:00 o'clock. At this meeting Clayton Wood and Basil Reid were elected local liquor inspectors by informal ballot with a vote of 7 to 16. This position was previously filled by Edwin Johnson and Fred Watson who generously used the money for their services for community improvements.

Several important matters were discussed and voted on: The moving of Sport's Park to be paid by Doyle township; the balance of materials for dugouts to be purchased; skating rink banks on East end to be lowered by bulldozer, if and when one is available.

A vote of thanks was given Fred Watson and Edwin Johnson for their generosity, interest, and effort toward the recreational needs of this community.

Phils Look Best Down In Florida

By JOE REICHLER
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(P)—Observations of a traveling baseball writer who has chased 10 major league teams around all corners of Florida for seven weeks: Best looking team — Philadelphia Phillies.
Worst looking team — Detroit Tigers.
Most improved team — Cincinnati Reds.
Best looking pitcher — Robin Roberts, Phillies.
Worst looking pitcher — Ted Gray, Tigers.
Most unfortunate pitcher — Rex Barney, Brooklyn Dodgers (he walked 12 men in three innings in two consecutive starts).
Most unorthodox pitcher — Roger Bowman, New York Giants.
Most difficult to hit — Ewell Blackwell, Reds.
Best looking hitter — Ted Kluszewski, Reds.
Most unorthodox batter — Artie Wilson, Giants (a left handed batter, he hits nine of ten balls to left and takes a step toward first before he starts his swing).
Most graceful hitter — Stan Musial, St. Louis Cardinals.
Best individual batting feat — Wilson's five for five, all of his hits going to left or left center against southpaws Gray and Hal Newhouse of the Tigers.
Best pitching performance — Dick Donovan's 15 consecutive scoreless innings for the Boston Braves.
Best looking rookie — Tom Poholsky, 22-year-old righthander of the Cardinals.
Rookie with best future — Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, 21-year-old lefthander of the Cardinals.
Most colorful rookie — Wilson of Giants and Tom Casagrande, Phils.
Best comeback — Bill Nicholson, Phils (considered through with baseball last year when hospitalized with diabetes).

Best fielder — Alvin Dark, Giants (played errorless ball for three weeks until split middle finger hampered his throwing).
Biggest disappointment — Bobby Morgan, Dodgers.
Unluckiest player — Eddie Stanky, Giant (benched by flu twice, then sidelined for two weeks with a sprained wrist).
Most stubborn player — Howie Pollet, Cards (held out all spring).
Most popular player — Lou Boudreau, Boston Red Sox.
Fastest rookie — Luis Marquez, Braves outfielder.
Tallest rookie — Gene Conley, Braves pitcher, stands 6-7.
Most determined rookie — Rocky Bridges, Dodgers infielder.
Biggest drawing card — Jackie Robinson, Dodgers.

Scrap Iron Dealer From Conshocken, Pa. Leads Golf Masters

By STERLIN SLAPPEY
AUGUSTA, Ga.—(P)—Four times George Fazio has poked his head above the crowd of golfers who follow the tournament circuit. This time the Conshocken kid intends to keep it there.
Swarthy George, a scrap iron dealer in Conshocken, Pa., led the masters tournament today as the second round opened at the rough, tough Augusta National course. But his lead wasn't secure even if he did shoot a 68 in yesterday's first round.
That four-under par golf barely was good enough to put him ahead of two veteran professionals, pressing him on the 6,900-

Football Uniforms Tucked Away During Ann Arbor Vacation

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(P)—Football uniforms were tucked away temporarily at the University of Michigan today as the 117-man squad halted spring practice to enjoy the college vacation period.
Head Coach Bennie Oosterbaan said the gridiron hopefuls would resume their drills on April 16 with five full weeks of practice still ahead of them.
The Wolverines opened their spring practice Monday, but had to halt it after just four days of workouts.

Football Experts Span Half Century For Alltime Guards

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—(P)—The nation's football experts had to span half a century to pair the greatest tandem of guards in the history of the sport and provide them with a pivot man.
Choosing an all-time all-American for Hall of Fame consideration, sports writers and broadcasters in an Associated Press poll named W. W. (Pudge) Heffelfinger, the old idestruitable of Yale, and Robert Suffridge, the modern slasher from Tennessee to the guard positions.
Schultz Was Giant
In between this stellar pair, they placed Adolph (Germany) Schultz, gargantuan center on the Michigan machine developed by Fielding H. Yost in 1905-1908.
Heffelfinger, giant stalwart of the Eli forward walls from 1888 through 1891, was a product of the days of long-haired players with nose guards, laced canvas jackets and mokeskin pants.
He was a symbol of piston-like drive and iron man endurance in the era of straightaway power football and rugged 45-minute halves.
Suffridge sliced out the path for ball-carriers for Bob Neyland's great touchdown machines of 1938-39-40. He won the Rockne Memorial trophy as the nation's outstanding linesman in 1940, his all-American year.
Schulz was a giant of a man—six feet five and 235 pounds. He played five years of varsity football, making all-America his next-to-last season in 1907.
The poll to choose the all-time America was conducted by the AP to get first nominations for the national Hall of Fame, a $5,000,000 shrine planned at Rutgers university, where Princeton and Rutgers played the first college game in 1869.
Players chosen for the first three teams will be considered for a permanent place in the Hall of Fame.

Munn On No. 3
Heffelfinger received the heaviest vote, getting 559 points on the basis of 10 for a first team vote. Suffridge received 253 points to beat out Tennessee's Herman Hickman and Southern California's Harry Smith, who got 124 and 178, respectively, to make the second team.
Third team guards were Clarence (Biggie) Munn, who played his last year at Minnesota in 1931

Ted Williams Hasn't Lost Batting Eye

By JOE FALLS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Folks up Boston way, especially the regular Fenway Park clan, are breathing much easier these days—"The Thumper" is thumping again.
Which means, of course, Ted Williams hasn't lost his delicate batting eye.
There was some doubt about Williams' condition when spring training started. He had fractured his elbow in the All-Star game last summer and some thought it might shorten, if not end his career.
But Ted's bat has given the answer: A .367 springtime batting average, sprinkled with some of those familiar Williams home runs.
Williams, flashing his raw power, poled a tremendous 400-foot home run yesterday as the Red Sox crushed Savannah, 15 to 0.
The $125,000 slugger also hit a single. He now has 29 hits in 79

Ben Hogan Proposed As Czar Of Golfing

RIDGEWOOD, N. J.—(P)—Batting Ben Hogan was proposed today as a commissioner of professional golf.
He got the nod from former national PGA president George Jacobus of the Ridgewood Country club. The idea of a golf commissioner was suggested earlier in the week by Masters Champion Jimmy Demaret at Augusta, Ga.
Jacobus, in telegrams to Demaret, Hogan and other leading pros, said he was suggesting Hogan "as the logical man for the job."
Hogan himself said he thought "a good business man could do the job." He added that "something's got to be done and mighty quick" to settle some of the bitter controversies which have cropped up in the sport recently.

Canadiens Take 3-2 Lead Over Detroit In Hockey Cup Race

By HARRY STAPLER
DETROIT —(P)— "Who's doing the chasing now?"
Boisterous Dick Irvin, coach of the Montreal Canadiens' surprising hockey team shouted that as he and his comeback lads headed for home ice today needing only one more win over the Detroit Red Wings to land in the Stanley Cup finals.
Montreal, manned by a few veterans and 10 eager rookies, moved ahead in the semi-final series last night by a spectacular second and third period comeback.
Watched By 4,000
A sellout crowd of 14,221 watched Detroit's defending cup champions ram in two goals to take an early lead. Then the Canadiens, sparked by Rookie Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, punched home five goals to win easily 5-2.
Montreal now leads three games to two in the best of seven semi-final series. The clubs play Saturday night at Montreal and, if needed, Tuesday at Detroit—with the series winner facing the Toronto-Boston victor.
Toronto holds a 2-1 edge in that series, with action resuming Saturday night at Toronto.
Coach Irvin, whose club finished in third place during the regular season while Detroit won the National league title, taunted the Red Wings after the game:
"After Detroit beat us two games at Montreal to square up the series at two wins each, Jack Adams (Detroit manager) boasted he 'had us on the run.' I'd say by looking at the standings today that he's still chasing us, wouldn't you?"

Montreal has met Detroit in four previous semi-final series but, has never won.
Punch Turns Tide
Irvin said that the punch which Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, Montreal scoring ace, landed on the face of Detroit's Ted Lindsay during a fracas near the end of the first period was the turning point.
"When Richard threw the punch Lindsay went down and it took all the fight out of the Red Wings," he said.
Richard went to the penalty box for seven minutes. Detroit led at that time 2-0, thanks to goals by Gordie Howe and Sid Abel.
"With Richard still in the penalty box they still couldn't score on us early in the second period. They realized they were whipped," Irvin said.
Billy Ray and Bert Olmstead rammed in goals for Montreal from close-in to tie the score midway of the second period.
Geoffrion put the Canadiens ahead to stay with a zooming 55-foot shot that Detroit Goalie Terry Sawchuk couldn't get in front of.
Richard and Calum (Baldy) Mac Kay added goals late in the third period as the roof literally fell in on the badly - outmanned Wings.
Three penalties were called against Detroit and two against Montreal by referee George Gravel. Sawchuk stopped 25 Montreal shots and McNeil halted 28.

Fearless Eck Named All-Time Quarterback

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
CHICAGO —(P)—Walter H. Eckersall, chosen yesterday as the all-time, all-America quarterback, was a fearless mite of 145 pounds who accomplished dazzling feats when football was so tough President Teddy Roosevelt said it must be made safer.
Eckersall was named on the all-time college football team being chosen by the Associated Press in a national poll of newspaper and radio sports editors to screen candidates for the National Football Hall of Fame at New Brunswick, N. J.
Thrice picked all-America while starring from 1903 through 1906 at the University of Chicago, Eckersall was a daring, elusive runner, a spectacular tackler and field leader.
Those were the days when deaths and crippling injuries resulting from massed play by big, ponderous brutes had football on the ropes.
Eckersall died at 46 on March 24, 1930, a victim of heart attack.
While Ecky was fearless on the football field, he once made 11 trips to a dentist's office before he could muster enough courage

Lamprey Will Be Discussed

Dr. Moffett Will Address OWAA Here

The Great Lakes lamprey menace will be one of the discussion subjects at the national convention of the Outdoor Writers Association of America in Escanaba June 30 to July 7.

Dr. James Moffett, chief of the Great Lakes fisheries investigation, will offer a report on what has been accomplished to date on the sea lamprey project.

Other fisheries problems will come up for discussion. O. H. Clark of the Fish and Fisheries division of the Michigan Conservation department will make a progress report on the rifle river project, which may become a pattern for the renovation of failing or worn-out trout waters all over the country.

R. W. Eschmeyer of Washington, D. C., executive vice president of the Sport Fishing Institute, will act as moderator for this portion of the seminar, which will be held on Monday, July 2.

materials on the world market.

In a recent announcement that it was launching a "test program" for buying meat in Europe, the army quartermaster headquarters at Heidelberg admitted that it "does not specify any sources of supply to (German) contractors. (It) is only interested in the quality of the meat, slaughterhouse conditions and compliance with delivery specifications."

The quartermaster plan calls for eventual purchase of 75 per cent of commissary meat requirements from European producers.

the hope that the appointment could be made from within the department.

"He probably thinks it would look pretty funny for the nation's leading conservation department to go outside its own ranks to find a new director," an executive aide said.

Being mentioned as possibilities for the post are Fontanna, D. J. Curry, regional director in the Upper Peninsula; James Wilkinson, regional director in the southern lower Peninsula; G. E. Eddy, chief of the geology division; Dr. A. S. Hazzard, director of the institute for fisheries research, and Gaylord A. Walker, chief of the general operations division.

Atom Spy Accuser Hears Fate Today

NEW YORK — (AP)—Confessed atom spy David Greenglass, chief accuser of his doomed sister and brother-in-law, will hear his own fate today.

Greenglass is liable to the same federal death penalty imposed on his kin—but he looks for mercy. His testimony was the bulwark of the government's case against condemned Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman, who sentenced the couple as Russian spies, noted the "courage" and "soul" searching that lay behind Greenglass' decision to testify against his family.

Greenglass, 29-year-old former army sergeant, has pleaded guilty to the same indictment on which the Rosenbergs and Morton Sobell elected to stand trial and were convicted by a jury a week ago yesterday.

His wife, Ruth, mother of two small children, joined Greenglass in testifying for the government. She has been named as a co-conspirator in the spy ring—but not as a defendant.

Greenglass, who was an army sergeant at the Los Alamos, N. M., atomic bomb project, testified that Rosenberg introduced him into atomic espionage work. He also swore that his sister engaged in the espionage.

Greenglass did not accuse Sobell, who drew a 30-year prison term yesterday. The 34-year-old radar and electronics expert was deemed less guilty than the Rosenbergs.

Rosenberg, 32, an electrical engineer, and his wife, 35, have two small children.

Harris came to light as a result of a letter to the Escanaba Press from Roger Williams, as follows: "Your edition of April 4, 1951, carried an item of a 'Hit and Run' driver in Menominee county killing one child and injuring two others."

"This same driver is out on bond on a charge of reckless driving committed in Delta county on April 19, 1950, a year ago, in which he destroyed a car valued in excess of $1,000.00. This time he has caused, not only anguish and grief, but thousands of dollars in damages to the hard working parents of these children."

"I tried, unsuccessfully, to have this man arraigned in court and his license revoked. I expected to collect no personal damages as, after personal investigation, it was my belief he had no financial status."

"Because of the above mentioned facts, I am also writing the Attorney General of Michigan. 'Some officials of this county are too lax and too long in office.'"

Fire Helps Cubs Win 2-1 In Six Innings

NEW ORLEANS — (AP)—Fire charred up an estimated $12,000 worth of Pelican stadium here yesterday and gave the Chicago Cubs a sixth inning 2-1 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Called on account of fire" was the unusual announcement that came over the public address system as smoke billowed from behind home plate.

A blaze of undetermined origin started beneath a stairway leading to the grandstand. When spectators saw the smoke they broke for the side exits.

The Cubs, winners of the short-lived exhibition game, also beat the Pirates out of the park. No one was injured and the fire never reached dangerous proportions.

An exhibition game between the Philadelphia Phillies and the Pirates will be played tonight.

Farmer Gets $500 For Tip In Slaying Of Kalamazoo Coed

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — (AP)—Farmer Al Davis was called to a ceremony today to receive his $500 reward in the Carolyn Drown rape murder case.

The Kalamazoo Automobile Dealers Association arranged to honor Davis at a luncheon meeting.

A tip from the Walhalla farmer led to the arrest and recent conviction of Raymond Lee Olson and Valorous Joe Mattheis as Carolyn's killers.

Davis said he overheard a suspicious conversation between Olson and Mattheis while the two were hunting on his farm.

Methodists Rebuild Church At Greenville Burned By Arsonist

GREENVILLE, Mich. — (AP)—Greenville's Methodist church, destroyed at the hand of an arsonist Monday night, will be rebuilt.

Members of the congregation set forth on the project yesterday in hopes of having a new church by Easter of 1952.

Losing little time, the board of trustees conferred with Lansing architects at about the same time the church's destruction was admitted in court by Vernon Dale Mevis, 21.

Mevis, factory worker who likes to set fires "for a thrill," pleaded guilty in Montcalm county circuit court to a charge of arson. He may be sentenced Monday.

Students Going To Conference

Meet On April 14 At Iron Mountain

An Upper Peninsula citizenship conference is scheduled for Iron Mountain high school on Saturday, April 14.

Attending will be junior and senior high school student council members from all over the Upper Peninsula. The conference is sponsored by the University of Michigan Bureau of School Services and Extension Service.

Students and faculty advisers attending the citizenship conference will discuss such topics as the duties of the student council in regard to civil defense, student-faculty relationships, organization and procedures of student council, high school morale and citizenship.

A joint meeting has been scheduled at 3 p. m. in Iron Mountain with the U. M. cheerleaders' clinic which will be held on the same day at Kingsford. The cheerleaders will stage a mass demonstration accompanied by high school bands from the two cities.

Three University of Michigan cheerleaders will put on an exhibition of skill on the trampoline and in juggling while Newt Loken, coach of the University cheerleaders, will do some tumbling.

Escanaba Students Going

Escanaba student council members who will attend the citizenship conference are: Janet Peterson, chairman, Casper Bartley, Mary Sue Fleming, Carolyn Johnson, Lorna Boucher, Bob St. Martin, Ramona Hale, Marlene Menard, Mary Braamse. Sponsors are Bradford Loveland and Alice Potter.

Escanaba students who will attend the cheerleaders clinic are: Joyce Sundquist, Connie Gallagher, Bess Parker, Elaine Anderson, Barbara Flanagan, Mary Larsen. The sponsor is Ruby Bli- zel.

Cohen And Wife Are Indicted In Income Tax Case

LOS ANGELES — (AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted gambler Mickey Cohen on charges of income tax evasion.

The jury had been going into Cohen's payments since the Kefauver crime committee drew admissions from him at hearings that he had borrowed some $300,000 in recent years with practically no security.

Cohen said he had no comment. He recently told reporters: "I'm clean (legal). But they'll indict me because the word is out to 'get Mickey Cohen.'"

Indicted with Cohen was his attractive wife, Lavonne.

They were charged with evading a portion of federal taxes on their incomes for 1946, 1947 and 1948. Authorities said she was named chiefly because she signed the returns with her husband.

Crime-Breaker's Son Held For Burglary

BOSTON — (AP)—Donald S. Strong, 17, son of the executive secretary of the crime-combating New England Watch and Ward society, has pleaded innocent to charges of breaking and entering and larceny and using automobiles without authority.

Strong, son of Dwight S. Strong who has been leading the Watch and Ward society's campaign against crime in New England, was indicted yesterday by a Suffolk county grand jury.

Superior Court Judge James C. Donnelly set trial for April 12.

Icebreakers Working In St. Mary's River

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. — (AP)—Ice clearing work in the lower St. Marys river was speeded today in anticipation of the arrival of American vessels.

The first U. S. ships are expected at the Soo locks Sunday. Two Canadian freighters already have reached here.

The ice breaker Mackinaw and car ferry Ste. Marie are at work in the river.

Iron Ore Industry Pioneer, W. G. Mather, Dies At Age Of 93

CLEVELAND — (AP)—William Gwinn Mather, 93, a pioneer in the iron ore industry, died last night at his home in suburban Bratenahl.

The millionaire industrialist and philanthropist suffered a heart attack a month ago.

He resigned four years ago as board chairman of the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co., and since that time had been honorary chairman for that big ore-shipping firm which brought the first iron ore to Cleveland.

Funeral services will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow in Trinity Episcopal Cathedral.

A native of Cleveland, Mather started his career in 1878 as a clerk for the Cleveland Iron Mining Co., founded by his father, Samuel Livingston Mather. That firm later consolidated with the Iron Cliffs Co., to become Cleveland-Cliffs Iron Co. Cleveland-Cliffs and the Cliffs Corp., were merged a few months after Mather retired from active leadership four years ago.

Mather became president of Cleveland-Cliffs after his father died in 1891.

Mather had served as a director of the Kelley Island Lime & Transport Co., Medusa Portland Cement Co., Corrigan-McKinney Steel Co., Republic Steel Corp., Otis Steel Co., and White Motor Co.

He was deeply interested in the welfare of the families in the towns Cleveland-Cliff built near its ore mines. Homes were built to sell at cost, hospitals and clubhouses were constructed and pensions were established.

Iron River And Powers Bus Line Service Planned

The Iron Mountain-Kingsford Transit Lines plans to run a bus from Iron River to Powers to make connections with the C&NW Peninsula "400" streamliner train.

The C&NW provided this service for some years with its scooter train operating between Escanaba, Powers and Iron River. After the C&NW was granted permission to discontinue the train two months ago, the Greyhound Lines obtained a temporary permit to operate a special bus between Escanaba and Iron Mountain.

Greyhound Bus Lines discontinued the bus service last Tuesday, finding it unprofitable.

Frank Butts, operator of the Iron Mountain-Kingsford Transit Lines, said a hearing on its application to operate a bus between Iron Mountain and Powers will be held later this month.

"We believe we can work out a rate plan which will attract increased patronage over the Iron River-Powers route," Butts said here today, "and we are hopeful the state commission will approve our application. We are definitely prepared to show how this traffic can be developed."

believed the "world" situation was more serious than last fall. In doing that, it was evident he meant new dangers lay outside Korea and the Communist war in Asia.

1. The troops on Formosa must be regarded as a strategic reserve, a force which may be needed critically later if Russia chooses all-out world war.

2. They should be kept on Formosa to defend that island against Chinese Communist invasion attempt because Formosa is a vital outlying bastion for defense of Japan.

3. If the Nationalist troops were committed to action in the vast area of the Chinese mainland against the millions of men available to Communist China they might be cut up and become militarily valueless.

4. The supply problem in taking care of the large force of Nationalists in actual warfare would be acute, especially when pyramided on the already difficult Korean war logistics program.

The Pentagon chiefs also do not subscribe to MacArthur's belief that the Communists have picked Asia as the major arena. Secretary of Defense Marshall last week told a news conference he
